The Association for Experiential Education will award the Joseph Pfeiffer Kiwanis Camp in Little Rock, Arkansas its annual ORGANIZATION OF THE YEAR AWARD at its twenty-sixth International Conference at the Hyatt Hotel in Incline Village, Nevada November 8, 1998.

This Award is given to an outstanding organization operating with the best practices of experiential educators throughout the world. The Joseph Pfeiffer Kiwanis Camp has been known through the years as one of the best examples of community initiative and networking in support of children, especially children who are in need of financial, intellectual and emotional support to engage a pattern of successful education and life skills. Sanford Tollette, Executive Director of the Camp, has served the Association, as has the Camp itself, in a variety of ways in AEE's history. Exemplary conferences, playdays and experiential learning workshops and seminars have been held at the Camp throughout its existence.

The Association grants this Award to an organization that has made a tangible, visible difference in the lives of persons, students or clients whom it has served. There are hundreds of successful, contributing citizens who have participated in the Joseph Pfeiffer Kiwanis Camp's programs for over twenty years. The Camp's teachers, staff members and supporting donors have had an active, hands-on role through the years for the young people served.

The Camp's current efforts to build an innovative experiential education residential program demonstrate the continuing commitment to excellence in programming. The Little Rock community of individuals, churches, clubs and businesses deserves a share of the credit for the Camp's wonderful track record! Experiential educators around the world will be watching the Camp for its trademark success, now and for years in the future.
